Department News

Michelle Gonzalez and Vanessa Volpe are this year's recipients of the Diversity Research Award. Michelle, a graduate student in Clinical Psychology, is the recipient of the Ernest C. Davenport Award. She won for her work with Dr. Deborah Jones. Her research focuses on variability in at-risk and under-served families, including African-American single mother and low income families.

Vanessa, a graduate student in Developmental Psychology, is the recipient of the Bernadette Gray-Little Award. She won for her work with Dr. Jean-Louis Gariepy. Her research studies the physical health consequences of racial discrimination experienced by African-Americans and identifies potential mechanisms that might lead to racial health disparities.

Several graduate students recently received a National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship Awards. NSF Graduate Research Fellowships recognize outstanding graduate students in the STEM field. Laura Machlin, Kristin Meyer, and Effua Sosoo all received a NSF Graduate Research Fellowship and were honored at the 2016 Graduate Student Recognition Celebration on April 14.

Jennifer Belus, a graduate student in Clinical Psychology, is the recipient of a 2016 Graduate School Summer Research Fellowship. These fellowships provide summer support to doctoral students so they may focus exclusively on their dissertation research. The fellowship is intended to support students who normally do not have summer funding. Fellowships are made possible through generous gifts to the UNC Graduate School. Jennifer plans to use her summer support to travel to South Africa this summer and gather data for her dissertation.

Welcome to New Staff!

Brian Sillman joined the Department in early March as our new Financial Reporting Coordinator. Brian graduated with a BFA in Studio Arts from UNC Greensboro in 2010, with a focus on figurative oil painting and critical theory. He enjoys art, literature, the outdoors, and (his guilty pleasure) binge-watching television. Brian started his career at UNC in Disbursement Services in 2012 and is excited to have joined our team. Welcome, Brian!

News, continued

Matthew Cohen, a Clinical graduate student, and Vanessa Volpe, a Developmental graduate student, are the recipients of a 2016 Student Undergraduate Teaching Award. The winners of these awards are nominated by undergraduate students. Award recipients are selected based on demonstrated and consistent excellence in undergraduate teaching, creation of a dynamic environment, respect for intellectual diversity, and success in positively affecting a broad spectrum of students both in and outside the classroom.

Heidi Vuletich, a graduate student in Developmental and Social Psychology, is a recipient of the 2016 Paul and Daisy Soros Fellowship, a fellowship that supports immigrants or children of immigrants who are pursuing graduate school in the United States. Each fellowship supports up to two years of graduate study and seeks the most promising New Americans who will go on to make distinctive contributions to American society, culture, or their field. Heidi was selected for her dedication to understanding the psychological factors that stand in the way of youth.

Jennifer Belus and Eleanna Varangis are the 2016 winners of the Baughman Dissertation Research Award—a departmental award that supports and promotes innovative dissertation research. Jennifer won for her dissertation, “Evaluating the Couples Health CoOp in South African Couples: Understanding Sexual Concurrency, Long-Term Skill Retention and Relationship Dynamics.” Eleanna won for her dissertation, “Persistent Neurocognitive Effects of Concussion in Middle-Adulthood.”

Dr. Patrick Curran launched the Carolina Quantitative Diversity Initiative on April 8, 2016 in Chapel Hill. The initiative is a multi-year program to enhance diversity in all forms in the quantitative sciences. There were six invited guests, including (from left to right): Nayena Blankson (Spellman College), Sandra Williams (UNC), Laura Castro-Schilo (UNC), Cecelia Valrie (East Carolina University), Jean-Philippe Laurenceau (University of Delaware), Katherine Masyn (Georgia State University), and Patrick Curran (UNC).

2016 Department Commencement

Our 2016 Department Commencement Ceremony will be held on Sunday, May 8 at 1:00 pm in Carmichael Arena. Faculty and graduate student are strongly encouraged to attend.

Academic regalia is encouraged for this event, but certainly not required. Regalia can be purchased in-store at UNC Student Stores April 25—May 8, or may be ordered online April 4—April 20. The ceremony is open to the public and will last approximately 1.5 hours.

Please arrive at Carmichael Arena no later than 12:30 pm and allow plenty of time for travel as the area will be heavily congested. The main ceremony in Kenan Stadium ends at 11 am the same day.

The School of Government Parking Deck is available for faculty and disability parking. Cobb Deck opens at 12 pm for general public parking and is first-come, first-served. More information about parking can be found online at Transportation and Parking or you may review the Commencement Parking Map for public parking options.

If you would like to attend and support your students, please RSVP by Wednesday, May 4. We hope to see you there!
